

Online resources for students

List from suggestions of various Enloe teachers and staff members

Multiple subjects

1. Brightstorm, <http://www.brightstorm.com>. Math, science, English and test preparation. Choose the class; choose the topic. They have short videos for each topic and often include a concept (practice) problem for students to try. The site is a subscription site, but it does have free trial periods.
2. Khan Academy, <https://www.khanacademy.org/> Math, science, economics, arts and humanities, computing, test preparation.
3. Study Island, <http://www.studyisland.com>. Students login with ID#@enhs and their password (if they haven't changed it) is their ID number again.
4. March 2 Success, <http://www.march2success.com>. Help in multiple subjects; in particular the site has Earth Science resources (which Study Island does not have). Does have a Spanish-language translation.

Math/science

1. Just Math Tutorials: <http://patrickjmt.com>
2. Math Playground (goes all the way through precalculus): <http://www.mathplayground.com/>
3. Vocabulary help for Earth Science at www.quizlet.com: The class is called ENLOE 2016 EARTH SCIENCE with the generic user name "enloearth" and password "eagles"

English

1. Citation Machine <http://citationmachine.net/index2.php> Provides an easy, automatic way to create a list of Works Cited.
2. EasyBib <http://www.easybib.com/> Automatically generates works cited and bibliography information for academic papers using MLA, APA and Chicago/Turabian citation styles.
3. LibriVox <http://librivox.org/> Extensive online collection of free audio books read by volunteers.
4. Culturally Authentic Pictorial Lexicon <http://capl.washjeff.edu/index.php> Images that demonstrate the true meaning of words in English and a variety of other languages.
5. Guide to Grammar and Writing <http://grammar.ccc.commnet.edu/grammar/> Very intensive guide for everything from word and sentence level, to paragraph level, to essay and research paper level.
6. ClassicAuthors <http://www.classicauthors.net/> Online collection of the works of authors such as Austen, Bronte, Chaucer, Hawthorne, Homer, Milton, Poe, Thoreau and Wordsworth.
7. Poetic Terminology <http://www.poeticterminology.net/> List of poetic terminology and relevant examples for students and teachers.
8. Scholastic Graphic Organizers for Reading Comprehension <http://www.scholastic.com/teachers/lesson-plan/graphic-organizers-reading-comprehension> Organizers are great for literary elements, literature, reading assessment, reading comprehension and literature.
9. Gale Glossary of Literary Terms http://www.gale.cengage.com/free_resources/glossary/ Defines hundreds of terms, from abstract to zeitgeist.
10. Absolute Shakespeare <http://absoluteshakespeare.com/> Includes plays, sonnets, poems, quotes, biography and even information about the Globe Theatre.

11. Commonly Confused Words <http://www.oxforddictionaries.com/us/words/commonly-confused-words>
Lists dozens of commonly confused word pairs, such as affect/effect, discreet/discrete, and flaunt/flout, with tips on how to use them correctly.

English as a Second Language

1. ManyThings <http://www.manythings.org/> Free study site with games, quizzes, puzzles, MP3 files with transcripts, listening practice, pronunciation and more.
2. ESLHQ <http://www.eslhq.com/> Free ESL flashcards, worksheets, games, activities and more.
3. Forvo <http://www.forvo.com/> The world's largest pronunciation dictionary. ESL students can look up any word and hear it pronounced by an authentic English speaker.
4. Big Dog's Grammar Guide <http://aliscot.com/bigdog/> Fun, easy-to-follow guide to the basic rules of English grammar, designed for beginning students to be used as a quick review.
5. Repeat After Us <http://repeatafterus.com/> Online English language lab where students can access a sizable collection of texts and scripted recordings.

Foreign language

1. <http://www.spaleon.com/> This website is good for practicing verb conjugation. Sometimes you have to manually type in the address for the link to work.
2. <http://www.elma.wednet.edu/cms/lib2/WA01001699/Centricity/domain/112/elmaeagles/elmaeagl/web/fl.htm> This website has a fun "timed hangman" activity for verb conjugation.
3. <http://www.studyspanish.com/> This website has some tutorials and a range of activities from pronunciation to culture.
4. www.spanishspanish.com Spanish online flashcards
5. <http://www.spanishdict.com/conjugate/> This website gives you every possible conjugation of the verbs you could want. It is "¡fantástico!"
6. <http://www.spanishdict.com/dictionary> This website also has a dictionary you can use to look up words (English to Spanish or Spanish to English). (Strongly advise against using a translator to understand more than 1-2 words, though.)
7. <http://www.colby.edu/~bknelson/SLC> This website has a wealth of activities. It is particularly good for practicing grammar.

Social studies

1. This helps those who like music and relates it to history: <http://historytunes.com/>
2. This is fantastic because it is basically our entire history curriculum. So for students that don't have a history book to take home, this is absolutely amazing: <http://www.ushistory.org/us/>
3. Great interactive site: <http://interactivesites.weebly.com/social-studies.html>

General

1. Quizlet.com: great for making flashcards!
2. Success series: <http://www.wcpss.net/Page/1872> Wake County Public Schools-specific site that includes such subjects as French I, Spanish I and II, Physical Science, AP Calculus and AP Statistics.
3. Collegeboard.org: The SAT site also has materials for AP courses (the College Board is the sponsor of the Advanced Placement program).

4. Prentice Hall; <http://www.phschool.com/atschool/> Go to website, choose academic discipline, look for specific textbook that student uses in class; has been useful for World Languages in the past
5. The Purdue University Online Writing Lab (OWL) <http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/> features resources for MLA guidelines, research and citation help, and other support for students to develop as writers.
6. This subscription site also has a number of free resources for students. <http://www.shmoop.com/>
7. <https://prezi.com/> Make 3d interactive presentations that can include video. Also, search prezis to help you study.
8. Unstuck, a free app for web and iPad, helps you solve life's problems whenever you're feeling stuck. <http://www.unstuck.com/>
9. <http://www.regentsprep.org/> The site has almost every subject area so it is a great go-to for every area of study. Briefs, quizzes and practice tests that can be taken on-line or on paper.
10. Discovery Education's Puzzlemaker <http://www.discoveryeducation.com/free-puzzlemaker/> Helps create and print customized word searches, criss-cross puzzles, hidden message puzzles and more, using your own word lists.
11. Tagxedo <http://www.tagxedo.com/> Turn customized text, websites, blogs, Twitter accounts and more into stunning designs based on the frequency of words found in the medium.
12. National Security Language Initiative for Youth <http://www.nsliforyouth.org> This site references a wealth of solid, fully-funded, obtainable (2.5 GPA) scholarships for high school and beginning college students ages 14-18 from the U.S. Departments of State and Education.
13. Yoga Journal www.yogajournal.com Images and articles on poses, meditation, philosophy, and lifestyle.
14. Pilates Style www.pilatesstyle.com Basic information about pilates and exercise in general.
15. Zotero <http://www.zotero.org/> Helps collect, organize, cite and share research; you can add PDFs, images, audio and video files, snapshots of web pages and more. It indexes the full-text content of your library, allowing you to quickly find what you're looking for.